1 PRESS RELEASE

The 'COST ACTION Circular Cities' enables cities to become more circular by connecting stakeholders and researchers all over Europe and beyond to exchange, collaborate, share best practices and build a strong network for implementation of circular cities.

With this #mycircularcity photo contest the COST Action Circular City is expanding the network of stakeholders to you and me. We are all important parts of the circular cities of tomorrow. Cities are built for us. The #mycircularcity encourages us to look around your city and see all the little or big puzzle pieces of the circular cities of tomorrow already now for an increased feeling of connectedness amongst European cities and citizens and empowerment for the movement of Circular Cities.

What is a circular city?

In circular cities buildings become much more than places to work or live in. Houses no longer just consume. There is a give and take with other houses. Through nature based solutions they store energy and provide high quality service water and nutrients, collected and filtered with plant technology directly from our waste streams, monitored for safe use for all kinds of integrated food productions like edible walls of vertical farming, rooftop gardens, mushrooms harvested in our cellars, up to fish breeding in aquaponics.

The 3 winners of the #mycircularcity photo contest will be selected via public online voting. The winners will have the opportunity to present their photos and the story behind the circular city spots at the Eco-City World Summit. Furthermore the winning photos will be included in the #mycircularcity video that will be presented at several international events as part of the #circularcity week 2021. To improve their photo equipment the winners will receive up to 300 EUR and a delicious #mycircularcity gift basket full of circular green products to get a real taste for future #circularcities.

Let's all join the #mycircularcity movement and inspire people all over the world by uploading a photo of a spot in our city that is a little or big puzzle piece for a #mycircularcity of tomorrow.
